INTRODUCTION

This paper contains a summary of the results of the 1995 election for 21 members of the New South Wales Legislative Council. It is based on the election statistics published by the NSW Electoral Commissioner, though the data has been summarized and re-ordered to provide more information on the results.

The publication consists of four sections:

- Section 1 summarizes the results of the election, and details the progress of the count during the distribution of preferences.
- Section 2 lists the Legislative Council results for each Legislative Assembly electorate. Tables provide the primary votes and primary percentage vote received by each party group.
- Section 3 breaks down the state-wide vote for each party group by electorate, providing tables of votes recorded in each electorate, ordered by the size of the percentage vote received.
- Section 4 provides summary tables comparing the vote in the Legislative Assembly and Legislative Council.

While all calculations are based on the published Statistical Returns, all calculation of percentages, flows of preferences, total votes for party groupings and analysis by electorate are the responsibility of the Author.

At the end of Count 16, the following 15 candidates had been declared elected in order:

1	Hannaford, John (Lib)	2	Egan, Michael (ALP)
3	Gay, Duncan (Nat)	4	Symonds, Ann (ALP)
5	Sham-Ho, Helen (Lib)	6	Dyer, Ron (ALP)
7	Mutch, Stephen (Lib)	8	O'Grady, Paul (ALP)
9	Bull, Richard (Nat)	10	Johnson, Johnno (ALP)
11	Samios, James (Lib)	12	Manson, Andy (ALP)
13	Pezzutti, Brian (Lib)	14	Staunton, Patricia (ALP)
15	Jobling, John (Lib)

Between Counts 1 and 16, the total vote for the Liberal/National Party ticket fell by 5,905 through votes lost as preferences to other parties, or 0.45% of its original vote. The Labor Party ticket lost 5,151 votes, or 0.43%. Liberal/National preferences distributed widely, with the strongest flows being 14.1% to the Call to Australia, 9.3% to The Seniors, and 7.5% to Australians Against Further Immigration. Labor preferences were more concentrated, with 21.6% flowing to the Australian Democrats, 16.5% to the Greens and 8.9% to the Shooters Party.

Probably because of the size of the ballot paper, the flow of preferences from both tickets tended to favour parties at the same end of the ballot paper. Parties at the left-hand end of the ballot paper received more preferences from the Liberal/National Party ticket (Group M), while parties at the right-hand end of the ballot paper received more preferences from the Labor ticket (Group Y). For instance, the Natural Law Party (Group Z) received 220 votes from Labor and only 14 votes from the Liberal/National Party.

By the end of Count 74, 58 candidates had been excluded. These candidates included all but one remaining candidate on each ticket, both ungrouped candidates, and the leading candidate on the Confederate Action Ticket. When eliminated at Count 70, 82.2% of CAP preferences flowed to Greypower.

(In the tables that follow, the vote of the 15 elected candidates has been excluded.)

As can be seen above, at Count 74, Alan Corbett of A Better Future For Our Children was outpolled by the votes of the final candidate for the Liberal/National Party, Australians Against Further Immigrations, Australian Independents Coalition for Political Integrity and No Aircraft Noise. His eventual election was thanks to the flow of preferences from minor party candidates.

The next eight counts excluded the following candidates:

- Count 75 excluded Robert Butler of the Citizens Electoral Council. 79.9% of his vote was CEC ticket votes, and including below the line votes, 80.3% of preferences flowed to the Country Party.
- Count 76 excluded Anthony Meaney of Stop Dual Occupancy. 70.9% of these votes were SDO ticket votes, and overall 71.4% of preferences flowed to the Environment Independents.
- Count 77 excluded Catherine Knoles from the Natural Law Party. This included 81.1% of ticket votes, and overall 83.0% of preferences flowed to the Australian Democrats.
- Count 78 excluded Lyn Carson of Abolish State Government, with 69.9% ticket votes. Two preferences tickets were lodged, splitting preferences between the Greens and Democrats. Overall, 40.3% of preferences flowed to the Greens and 39.9% to the Australian Democrats.
- Count 79 excluded Bruce Threlfo from the Democratic Socialists, who had 83.4% ticket votes. Overall, preferences flowed 84.4% to the Indigenous People Party, lifting their count above both GreyPower and the Independent EFF.

1995 NSW Legislative Council Election

- Count 80 excluded Greypower. Their vote contained 66.8% Greypower ticket votes with a next preference for the Public Hospital Alliance, and 16.2% ticket votes from the Confederate Action Party with a next preference for Australians Against Further Immigration. Preferences flowed 67.5% to Public Hospital Alliance, and 18.3% to Australians Against Further Immigration.
- Count 81 excluded Eddie Azzopardi of the Independent EFF. His vote was 84.7% ticket votes, and overall his preferences flowed 85.5% to No Aircraft Noise.
- Having delayed their exclusion by two counts thanks to Democratic Socialist preferences, Count 82 excluded Una Walker of the Indigenous People Party. Her vote included 36.8% of IPP ticket votes with a next preference for the Australian Democrats, and 43.2% Democratic Socialist ticket votes with a next preference for the Greens. Overall, preferences flowed 38.6% to the Democrats and 48.9% to the Greens.

At this point, the Count stood as follows.

Count 85 excluded Maureen Davidson from the Public Hospital Alliance. Her vote consisted of 50.2% of PHA ticket votes with a next preference for the Environment Independents, and 34.4% Greypower ticket votes with a next preference, for Daylight Saving Extension. Overall, preferences flowed 50.9% to Environment Independents and 34.9% to Daylight Saving Extension. This lifted the Daylight Saving Extension vote ahead of The Seniors and A Better Future for Our Children. The Environment Independents also passed the Country Party and Smokers Rights.

Next to be excluded was David Kilvert from the Country Party. His vote included 77.2% Country Party ticket votes, and 9.8% of Citizens Electoral Council preferences. Both showed a next valid preference for A Better Future for our Children, producing a 89.2% flow of preferences. This lifted A Better Future for our Children from twelfth to seventh in the count.

The exclusion of the next candidate, Mark Anthony from Smokers Rights requires explanation. The registered ticket vote gave a second preference to the first candidate on the Liberal/National ticket. However, as this candidate was already elected, the first effective preference was the 8th preference for Labor's Janelle Saffin. Anthony's vote included 75.4% of ticket votes, and overall his preference flowed 76.5% to Labor, lifting Saffin to 0.90 of a quota.

Robert Cummins from the Environment Independents was excluded at Count 88. His vote included 41.8% of EI ticket votes, 31.4% of Public Hospital Alliance ticket votes, and 8.7% of Stop Dual Occupancy ticket votes. The next available EI and SDO preference was for No Aircraft Noise, while the PHA preferences flowed to A Better Future for Our Children. Overall, preferences flowed 52.8% to No Aircraft Noise and 35.2% to A Better Future for Our Children, putting both parties over half of one quota.

Count 89 excluded Beryl Evans of the Seniors Party. Her vote included 49.9% of Seniors ticket votes with next preference for A Better Future for Our Children, and 33.9% of COLOCP ticket votes with next preference for the Australian Independents Coalition. Overall, preferences flowed 51.4% to A Better Future, and 34.3% to Australian Independents Coalition. Beryl Evans was a retiring MLC who had been denied Liberal Party pre-selection. Had she directed preferences to the Liberal Party, the National Party's Lloyd Coleman would have passed Alan Corbett, and remained in the count for longer. This may have resulted in Coleman winning the position eventually won by the CTA's Elaine Nile, and it could also have resulted in Alan Corbett being excluded from the count at some stage, with Graeme Cordiner from the Australian Independents Coalition for Political Integrity elected in his place.

Count 92 excluded Edwin Woodger of Australian Against Further Immigration. His vote consisted of 72.7% AAFI ticket votes, and 3.0% Confederate Action Party ticket votes, both with next preference for the Shooters Party. As a result, 79.1% of preferences distributed to the Shooters Party, electing John Tingle (ELECTED 17). As his surplus votes could not change the order of exclusion for remaining candidates, the distribution of Tingle's surplus was deferred.

1995 NSW Legislative Council Election

As the total of surplus votes remaining to be distributed could have affected the order in which remaining candidates were excluded, these surpluses now needed to be counted out. First distributed was the Shooters Party surplus, received as preferences from the Australians Against Further Immigration at Count 92. 92.0% of these votes were AAFI ticket votes, and 3.8% Confederate Action Party ticket votes. As neither ticket showed preferences for candidates remaining in the count, 98.8% of the Shooters Party surplus exhausted at this point.

As Corbett's surplus would not affect the exclusion of the next candidate, it was not distributed. Instead, Larry Hand was excluded. However, with two vacancies to be filled and only two candidates remaining in the count, the Australian Democrats Richard Jones (ELECTED 20) and Labor's Janelle Saffin (ELECTED 21) were both declared elected.
