The Author

Antony Green is the Election Analyst for ABC-Television, and has worked for the ABC on every state and federal election coverage since 1989. He also writes regularly on electoral matters for the Sydney Morning Herald.

Antony studied at Sydney University, obtaining a Bachelor of Science in mathematics and computing, and a Bachelor of Economics with Honours in politics.

He produces regular publications for the Parliamentary Library on election results. His most recent was "New South Wales Elections 1999" (Background Paper No 4/99).

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank recently retired NSW Electoral Commissioner, Mr Ian Dickson, and the staff of the State Electoral Office, for their assistance in providing election results. In particular, I would like to thank Mr John Fullarton from the Electoral Office, and Ms Della Ong from Syntegra, for their help in providing the results in computer readable format.

While this publication is based on the results provided by the Electoral Office, all calculation of two-party preferred votes is the responsibility of the author.

Introduction

This publication provides estimated two-candidate preferred counts for every polling place at the 1999 Legislative Assembly election. It repeats the format used for similar publications on the 1991 and 1995 elections. Unfortunately, because of the major redistribution undertaken before the 1999 election, it has not been possible to include estimated swings on a polling place basis.

In the electorates of Albury, Bligh, Cabramatta, Cessnock, Dubbo, Keira, Manly, Marrickville and Northern Tablelands, the final two candidates in the contest did not represent the Labor Party and the Coalition. Additional tables have been provided for these electorates showing two-party preferred estimates for the contest between Labor and the Coalition. These can be found on pages 94-102.

A two-party preferred table has not been provided for Tamworth as the huge number of votes for Independent Tony Windsor that did not show preferences make the two-party preferred results relatively meaningless.

Following page 103, there are a series of tables showing the highest primary percentage votes achieved by several parties on a booth basis. The lowest booth percentage votes recorded by the major parties are shown on pages 113-115, and a table on page 116 shows the statewide vote by party based on the type of vote cast.

How estimates were calculated

It is important to remember that the tables in this book are of two-candidate and two-party preferred estimates. While the State Electoral Office performs an indicative throw of preferences on election night, these are not available, and are also not audited against the final distribution of preferences for the electorate.

Estimates for polling places have been calculated by applying the distribution of preferences at the electorate level to the primary votes in each polling place. Candidates were eliminated in the same order using the electorate level flows of preferences.

This process is best explained by example. Consider the electorate of Albury. The four candidates recorded the following votes, and preferences were distributed as follows.

Albury	Votes	First Distribution			Second Distribution
		Votes	% of Prefs	New Total	Votes	% of Prefs	New Total
Glachan (Lib)	16374	358	20.68	16732	1181	17.08	17913
Douglas (Ind)	13272	345	19.93	13617	3609	52.21	17226
O'Donnell (ALP)	6703	210	12.13	6913	...
Smith (ONP)	1731	...
Exhausted		818	47.26	818	2123	30.71	2941

These preference flows were applied to each individual polling place, as in the following example for the Albury booth.

Albury booth	Votes	First Distribution		Second Distribution
		Votes	New Total	Votes	New Total
Glachan (Lib)	721	9	730	54	784
Douglas (Ind)	1026	8	1034	167	1201
O'Donnell (ALP)	314	5	319	..
Smith (ONP)	42	..
Exhausted		20	20	98	118

In calculating the two-candidate preferred estimates, minor rounding errors can occur. This means that the total of the two-candidate preferred results by booths may not equal the actual results for the electorate as a whole. To avoid confusion, in all the tables, the figures in the "Grand Total" line are the actual results for the electorate, not the total calculated by summing the booths. In most electorates, rounding errors cause the sum of the booths to differ slightly from the actual result, an error in most cases of just a handful of votes.

The "Exhausted" column is also an estimated figure, and represents the difference between the total of the two-candidate or two-party preferred votes, and the primary votes. Again, the "Grand Total" is the electorate result, and not the sum of the booths.

Tables of highest and lowest primary votes

These tables are ordered by the percentage vote, not by the number of votes received.

Table of percentage votes by vote type

This table has been calculated by adding up the total of each type of vote from the results made available by the State Electoral Office. The vote labelled "Sydney Town Hall" excludes votes cast in the electorate of Port Jackson.
