INTRODUCTION

This paper is in all respects identical to the NSW Parliamentary Research Service publication NSW State Electoral Districts Ranked by 2011 Census Characteristics: 2013 Redistribution, except that it specifically highlights all Liberal electorates in blue in each 'A Table', that is those Tables in which the electorates are ranked. A companion Background Paper - NSW Electorate Profiles: 2013 Redistribution - presents the same data by electorate.

The paper presents data from the 2011 Census of Population and Housing for the 93 NSW State Electoral Districts (SEDs) as redistributed in 2013. Each SED is given a notional political party affiliation based on the NSW Parliamentary Research Service publication, 2013 New South Wales Redistribution: Analysis of Final Electoral Boundaries. Using the Electoral Pendulum in that paper, the results of the five by-elections held since the 2011 election in the Clarence, Heffron, Miranda, Northern Tablelands and Sydney electorates have been taken into account.

This publication is arranged by selected census characteristics. For each characteristic, three numbers from the 2011 Census are provided for all 93 NSW SEDs:

- A count of persons/families/dwellings;
- The count expressed as a percentage of the total electoral division population, or a subset of that population (where relevant); and
- The electorate's rank in relation to all electorates (in most cases based on the percentage).

In many cases, the percentage provided for a census characteristic was calculated in relation to the total number of persons in the electoral district. However, for a number of these characteristics, the percentage was calculated in relation to a subset of the electoral district's total population. For example, the total number of employed persons in an electoral district is expressed as a percentage of the total number of persons in the electoral district aged 15 and over. A table showing the population used when calculating the percentage for each characteristic is provided on page 9. This follows a list of definitions set out on pages 6 to 8. A summary of key findings is presented on page 3.

Data for each census characteristic is presented in two tables. The first lists the SEDs according to their rank. Where available, the 2006 rank has also been included. The second table presents the same information with the SEDs listed in alphabetical order. SED geography is kept stable between censuses, with rankings for both 2006 and 2011 based on the redistributed 2013 electorates.

The equivalent overall figure for the State is presented for each characteristic. Figures for ten regions are also provided: Eastern/Inner Sydney; Northern Sydney; Southern Sydney; Western Sydney; All Sydney; Central Coast; Country; Illawarra; Newcastle; and the North Coast (see page 11).

SUMMARY OF KEY FINDINGS

The following table summarises the key findings of this paper. For each characteristic, it shows the SED with the greatest and smallest proportion. The rate for NSW is also shown.
